

Another zippy-style Roadeo going out this week.

Remember the shoe splats we were working on? Winter came and went, they became a Fall 2010 project, but we just got in these, the first samples. Snicker, guffaw, and howl if you must, but they aren't far off. We'll work out a snugging system (see pic 2), and a simpler on-off way (right now it has laces in the back), and vegan-kowtowers that we are, we'll likely get rid of the leather....but basically this is it.

slip them over your shoes, then....

....cling them around the instep. We'll have this all worked out by next Fall sharp spikey pedals can't wreck 'em, and mud can't foul them, because....no soles!

the Scottish fabric lives to repel water. Your shoes & sox & feet will stay dry
